

– What are some challenges that you and your team member faced?

PHP is a challenging language which can be really unforgiving for the inexperienced. It's not the most intuitive and learning how to do 'xyz' can be frustrating. E.g. Figuring out why marks won't update the database.

- How did you go about addressing these challenges?

Getting help from Piazza and from TAs helped us address these challenges.

– What are some new things that you have learnt by working on this assignment?

I learned that PHP is not for the faint of heart. I honestly hope I never have to use it again.
